CLOUD HIGH BACK

WITH LUCA NICHETTO'S CLOUD SOFA THE AIM WAS TO PRODUCE THE ESSENCE OF COMFORT. THE NEW VERSIONS, CLOUD HIGH BACK LN6 & LN7, ARE NO EXCEPTION - ACCENTUATING THE FEELING OF FLOATING ON YOUR OWN CLOUD.

BY LUCA NICHETTO

It is easy to guess the inspiration behind the Cloud Series. Come closer, have a seat and do not be surprised if you feel like you are floating on air. Designed to be spacious and expansive, Italian-born, Swedish-based designer Luca Nichetto wanted to minimise anything voluminous and accentuate the look and feel of lightness. Seen in this new version of Cloud Sofas with a high back.

"Everyone is drawn to the idea of floating on a cloud," says &tradition CEO Martin Kornbek Hansen. "It is the quintessence of comfort. With the high-back version of Cloud Sofas, Nichetto augments the impression of lightness both visually and experientially. At the same time, he expresses the concept of cosy, which is very close to our hearts. In Danish, we call it hygge."

The secret to Cloud's truly hygge sensation involves feather and foam-filled seat cushions resting on an upholstered solid wood base. Slim steel legs keep the base "afloat", with a special coating in black, chrome or bronzed. The cushions along the back are secured in place with a curved shell that extends quite high above your back, constructed from foam-wrapped plywood covered in the same textile to match the cushions.

"When you are floating on a cloud, you are in your own world," explains Nichetto. "With the high-back versions of the sofa, you feel comfy, free and able to focus. Even the acoustics are more intimate. It is like having your own cloud up in the sky. It is a concept – but it is real. A private space you can share with others."

Consider this your invitation to sit in them. Lie down in them. Have a chat with someone in them. And enjoy that uncanny feeling of being utterly enveloped by them.

In 2002 Sato established his design studio Nendo, which means moulding clay, to reflect his flexible approach to reinventing design. The recipient of numerous awards and accolades, Sato takes his inspiration from parenthetical moments in life to bring beauty and simplicity to a cross-pollination of projects that endeavour to make the ordinary extraordinary.

ISOLE

&TRADITION IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE THE
LAUNCH OF NENDO & LUCA NICHETTO'S ISOLE NN1 – A MODULAR SOFA WHERE CREATIVE CONNECTIVITY BRIDGES TIME AND SPACE.

BY NENDO & LUCA NICHETTO

Two designers from different cultures virtually co-created the modular Isole Sofa via a process of exchanging ideas inspired by Japanese poetry. Oki Sato, founder of the Tokyo-based design studio Nendo, and Luca Nichetto, Italian founder of Stockholm-based Nichetto Studio, instantly felt a kindred creative spirit when initially they met over coffee in Tokyo. Defying the geographical distance between them, Nendo and Nichetto subsequently found a new way to collaborate long distance applying the concept behind Tanka, a traditional genre of Japanese poetry, where one person starts the poem and the other person completes it.

"I was thinking of soft, organic forms like pebbles, stones, drops of water, islands," explains Sato. "But I had no idea how they could connect and become furniture. I did a sketch, took a photo with my iPhone and sent it to Luca." "I am from Venice so I know about islands," says Nichetto. "When I saw the first sketch I realized that these islands needed bridges. So I designed the armature as a bridge to connect the islands into individual seats, and each seat into a modular sofa."

The outcome is Isole, Italian for islands. A truly unique sofa concept enabling a variety of combinations and configurations, including versions with and without an "island" arm cushion. Variations include a discrete round, square or rectangular side table that integrates beautifully with the overall aesthetics. The impression? Soft, inviting and endearing.

"Typically, modular sofas tend to be square, stiff and driven by functionality first," says &tradition CEO Martin Kornbek Hansen. "With the Isole Sofa, Nendo & Nichetto have brought beauty, balance and a sense of poetry to a design that feels cosy and friendly even before you sit in it. What's more, the concept itself is very much aligned with our Danish appreciation of nature, alluding to pebbles and the ocean. In a simple, organic shape with subtle details and superb craftsmanship."

"It's all about emotion," adds Sato. "That's what links people with objects, people with space, people with people." As Nichetto sees it, "I hope people will also somehow feel the magic we had when designing the sofa. It captures a sense of individuality and yet it facilitates individuals connecting with each other."

Enjoy this new approach to sitting and socialising, reflecting the collaborative process behind the sofa's own conception. Where creative connectivity was the bridge between time and space and the designers themselves.

CATCH BAR STOOL

&TRADITION IS PLEASED TO ANNOUNCE A NEW ADDITION TO THE CATCH SERIES BY THE ACCLAIMED DESIGNER JAIME HAYON: THE CATCH BAR STOOL. WITH THE SAME WELCOMING SPIRIT OF ITS FAMILY, THE BAR STOOL IS A CONVERSATION PIECE THAT INVITES FOR SOCIAL MOMENTS.

BY JAIME HAYON

Hayon brings the same welcoming spirit of his Catch Chairs to the Catch Bar Stool. Like a friend ready to give you a hug, the arms extend outwards from the curved seat. The result is a bar stool that's a conversation piece, setting the scene for a cosy exchange from the start. The bases are tubes powder coated black and available in two heights, with an enormous array of fabrics and leather types to choose from for the seat itself. It's the utmost in humanity and simplicity with a touch of humour.

"Hayon has a talent for creating inviting designs imbued with a certain energy," notes &tradition CEO Martin Kornbek Hansen. "The Catch Bar Stool and Counter Stool are no exception. Whether you're relaxing at home or out at a bar or lounge with others, the Catch Bar Stool and Counter Stool are an open invitation to meet, greet and start a conversation." As Hayon sees it, "Everyone takes design so seriously. My idea behind the Catch collection is to instantly make people feel welcome. That's why the seat is curvy and comfy with outstretched arms. Like a friend waiting for you."
